FIELDHOUSE EXPANSION

Artist's renderings of the campus view of the new men's and women's basketball center, with construction expected to begin in Spring 2007.

An expansion of Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse and a dedicated center for men's and women's basketball highlight a comprehensive plan for enhancing varsity and recreational athletics at Saint Joseph's University. The total project will proceed in three phases over the next several years:

PHASE ONE

Construction of a 17,700-square foot center adjacent to the existing Fieldhouse that will house state-of-the-art facilities for men's and women's basketball. The center is to include new locker rooms, coaches' offices, meeting areas, and dedicated academic and study space. Also planned are video and multi-media technology along with an expanded media relations capacity.

PHASE TWO

The relocation of at least five varsity sports and the student recreation/intramural program by 2009 to the new Maguire Campus (Episcopal Academy), followed by renovations to the existing Rec Center to house new athletic offices along with locker rooms and meeting space for the remaining varsity sports. A hardwood practice court for men's and women's basketball will also be added to the Rec Center during Phase Two.

PHASE THREE

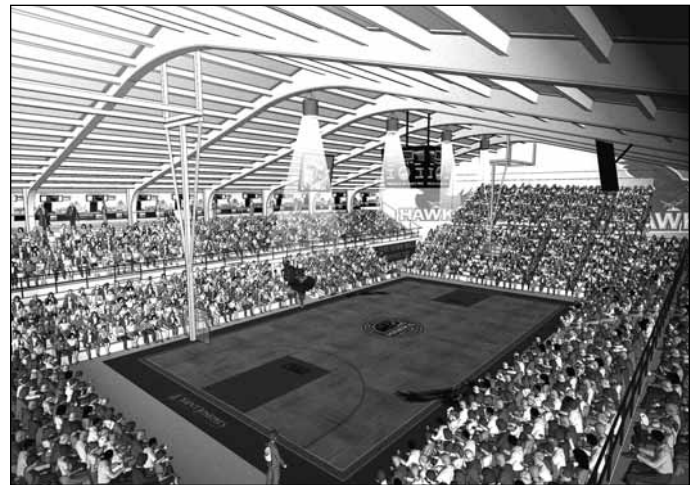

Expansion of the Fieldhouse to include a full-service concourse around the perimeter of the arena and an increase in capacity by at least 1,000 seats. It is expected that men's and women's basketball will need to play one full season off campus during the heaviest construction period, but both squads will retain access to the basketball center and new practice court.

Current arena plans call for significant Fieldhouse upgrades, including increased student seating, modern amenities, and concession/merchandise areas. Meeting areas and group entertainment space will also be provided while preserving an intimate spectator experience and the significant home court advantage that has long been a hallmark of men's and women's basketball on Hawk Hill. Events in the new facility could begin as early as 2010.

"So much of this is made possible by the flexibility we acquire along with the Maguire Campus," stated SJU President Timothy R. Lannon, S.J. "All of our varsity programs, along with club, recreation, and intramural programs, will have the kind of facilities that reflect their status as integral to the campus life experience."

The Board considered the construction of a completely new facility, but a variety of factors made renovation and expansion more attractive options. University officials also noted that the unique character of Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse was worth retaining, and that the opportunity to provide significant upgrades for all varsity and recreation sports is too important to bypass.

"All Saint Joseph's students will benefit from these upgrades," added Don DiJulia, associate vice president/director of athletics. "And all Hawk fans will enjoy a dramatic and positive change in their spectator experience."

The expansion of the Fieldhouse will include an increase of at least 1,000 seats and a full service-concourse around the perimeter of the arena.

Included in the plan are new locker rooms for the men's and women's basketball teams, as well as new coaches' offices.

Why S-a-i-n-t Joseph's University?

The corporate title "S-a-i-n-t" Joseph's University, which has been in place since Saint Joseph's was granted university status by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1979, is now the public title of the institution for all aspects of its operations. Previously, the abbreviation "St." Joseph's University was permitted in a number of alumni and athletic contexts.

The vast majority of academic and government publications have referred to Saint Joseph's University since at least 1986, as have most campus references with the exception of athletics. However, university-wide "image campaign" has revealed the need to clarify this policy both internally and externally.

According to the most recent edition of the Higher Education Directory, there are at least nine recognized "St. Joseph's" among the nation's colleges and universities. Only one of them - Saint Joseph's University, Philadelphia - is a university-level, Master's I, NCAA Division I institution. A complete spelling of Saint Joseph's University in all contexts will help eliminate any confusion among higher education and other public constituencies.

Style information for print, electronic and digital media is available. It includes accepted abbreviations of the corporate name (e.g., "SJU" or "St. Joe's" in headlines or certain informal references) as well as prohibited usages (e.g., partial abbreviations such as "St. Joseph's" or "Saint Joe's").

Please direct any questions to the Office of University Communications at (610) 660-1222.

HAWKS ON TV

The Hawks will once again have a strong presence on local, regional and national television networks. Three of Saint Joseph's regular-season games will be seen nationally in 2006-07. ESPN2 will televise the home game with Saint Louis (Feb. 1) and the annual battle with Villanova (Feb. 6) as part of "Rivalry Week". The Hawks' matchup with Temple at the Palestra (Feb. 22) will be a national telecast on CSTV.

SJU's affiliation with the Atlantic 10 Conference plays an integral role in the exposure received by the Hawks and the other A-10 schools. The Atlantic 10 will have a major presence on national and regional television in 2006-07.

The Atlantic 10 and ESPN once again team up in 2006-07 as the "Worldwide Leader in Sports" will air 17 games featuring Atlantic 10 teams, including eight league games and the A-10 Championship from Atlantic City. The Atlantic 10 is in the midst of a multi-year deal which guarantees its presence on ESPN.

CSTV Networks, Inc. entered into a long-term, comprehensive agreement with the Atlantic 10 Conference, including all 21 of the Conference's sports. The CSTV-Atlantic 10 agreement consists of all conference-related media and marketing rights including television, national over-the-air and satellite radio, video-on-demand, internet, broadband, wireless, and exclusive corporate sponsorship and licensing rights to all Atlantic 10 sports during the regular season and post-season championships, including the men's and women's basketball championships. It also covers the rights for all regular season, post-season, and Conference championships.

CSTV, part of the CBS Corp., is the nation's leading digital sports media company and was the first company dedicated to the coverage of college sports. Through an array of platforms, CSTV connects more college sports fans to their favorite schools and sports in more ways than any other media company. In addition to its national television network, which broadcasts 35 men's and women's college sports, CSTV also has a network of nearly 250 official collegiate athletic web sites, including Saint Joseph's and the majority of A-10 schools.

CSTV recently launched more than 100 broadband channels dedicated to college sports. These are all available through CSTVXXL.com or the individual school sites. The entire CSTV XXL package will include more than 10,000 live events his year. Saint Joseph's is among the 100-plus schools with All-Access broadband channels which will offer audio and video of live games, archived games, coaches shows, press conferences, ticketing and e-commerce.

Saint Joseph's games have been among the highest rated basketball contests in Philadelphia over the past few years, particularly during the Hawks' quest for the perfect regular season in 2003-04.

PHIL MARTELLI'S "HAWKTALK"

It's hard to believe, but Phil Martelli's "HawkTalk" has been on the air for 10 years. For a decade, Martelli has provided a different twist on the traditional coach's show, hosting a "Tonight Show" format. Some obligatory game highlights are included, but the emphasis is on wacky jokes and interviews. In 2001, The Sporting News called "HawkTalk" the nation's best coach's show. The 2005-06 season marked the 10th anniversary of the show.

Martelli hosts the unscripted half-hour show, and in addition to trading barbs with co-host Joe Lunardi, he interviews guests ranging from Saint Joseph's students to family members to high-ranking politicians. Governor Ed Rendell has been among the high-profile guests on "HawkTalk" in the past few years, along with author and Washington Post columnist John Feinstein, SJU coaching legend Jack Ramsay, Philadelphia Flyers head coach Ken Hitchcock, Sports Illustrated writer Seth Davis and SJU alum Vince Papale, whose story was told in the 2006 box-office hit "Invincible."

For the past three years, "HawkTalk" has been taped primarily on campus with a live studio audience of SJU students, faculty and staff.

The show airs weekly from January to March in the Philadelphia region on Comcast SportsNet. For the past two years, a whole new audience experienced "HawkTalk" as fans nationwide were treated to the broadcast of Martelli's show on CollegeSports Television (CSTV).

"HawkTalk" is produced by CCI Communications of West Chester, PA, is directed by Ken Selinger and with assistance from Ken Adelberger, Steve Selinger, Mark Knox, and Stacey Martin.

Basketball is often the secondary topic on Phil Martelli's "HawkTalk", when the SJU coach and co-host Joe Lunardi get together on the most unique coach's show in the country.

Martelli brought out the tuxedos, balloons and cake for the 10th anniversary show in January of 2006. The episode featured a parade of guests from the past 10 years.

"HawkTalk's" lineup of guests is wide-ranging. Joining Martelli and Lunardi in 2004 were author and Washington Post columnist John Feinstein (center) and Pennsylvania Governor Ed Rendell (right).

SAINT JOSEPH'S SPORTS NETWORK

For over 15 years, the Saint Joseph's Sports Network (SJSN) has produced and broadcast Hawk athletics to the Philadelphia region and beyond. Begun as an outgrowth of a four-game package of Saint Joseph's women's basketball broadcasts during the 1989-90 season, SJSN was founded in the fall of 1990. Since that time, SJSN's coverage of Hawk athletics has grown and currently includes live coverage of all Hawk men's and women's basketball games, Phil Martelli's "HawkTalk" radio program and the nationally-renowned "HawkTalk" television show.

Saint Joseph's games will be carried in 2006-07 on either WFIL 560 AM or WNTP 990 AM, stations which have a long history of broadcasting college basketball in Philadelphia.

All of SJU's men's games can also be heard via audio streaming on the internet at the Hawks' official athletics site, www.sjuhawks.com. Video streaming of selected games will also be available on www.sjuhawks.com as part of the Hawks All-Access package.

Tom McCarthy Play-by-Play

Tom McCarthy enters his fourth year handling play-by-play duties for the Saint Joseph's radio broadcasts. In 2006, he is coming off his first season as the play-by-play announcer for the New York Mets on WFAN 660 AM.

Prior to working with the Mets, he served as one of the broadcasters and host of the pre- and post-game shows on the Philadelphia Phillies Radio Network for five years. McCarthy has extensive experience in broadcasting college athletics. He is currently one of the play-by-play announcers for College Sports Television (CSTV), handling football and basketball, and over the years, has handled similar duties for Rutgers football and Princeton football and men's basketball. He also calls the action for Saint Joseph's women's basketball commercial radio broadcasts.

In 1999, McCarthy originated his own daily, drive-time radio program on ESPN Radio (1680 AM) in Princeton and, one year later, began hosting shows nationally on the ESPN Radio Network.

A 1990 graduate of the College of New Jersey, McCarthy began his career as a sportswriter for The Trenton Times. After five years there, McCarthy was named the director of media relations and radio play-by-play broadcaster for the AA Trenton Thunder baseball club. He went on to serve as the team's announcer for seven years and assumed the team's assistant general manager duties for his final three years.

A New Jersey native, McCarthy resides in Allentown, NJ, with his wife Meg and their four children - Patrick (11), Tommy (9), Maggie (6) and Kerri (3).

Joe Lunardi Color Analyst

Returning for his 17th season on the SJSN is Joe Lunardi, assistant vice president for marketing communications at Saint Joseph's. In that position he oversees institutional marketing and branding, program advertising, web content, and other integrated communications initiatives.

A 1982 graduate of Saint Joseph's, Lunardi returned to his alma mater in 1987 as director of media relations. He has also served as director of external relations, director of university communications, and assistant vice president for university communications. He was named to his current post in August.

Away from the University, Lunardi is the nationally-known "bracketologist" for ESPN, ESPN Radio and ESPN.com. His ESPN.com bracketology site generates over 10 million hits per season. He correctly forecast all but one NCAA Tournament team for six consecutive years and will cover his 700th Hawk game this season.

In 2004, Lunardi received the William J. Bennett Award for dedication and loyalty to the SJU men's basketball program. Lunardi and his wife, Pam, a 1984 SJU graduate, reside in Drexel Hill, PA, with their daughters, Emily (13) and Elizabeth (9).

Phil Martelli's HawkTalk radio show will be aired weekly from January through March on WFIL 560 AM. The show will be broadcast live at 7 p.m. on Monday evenings from The Boulevard Grill in Havertown, PA. During the hour-long show, Martelli and co-host Joe Lunardi will field questions from callers and the on-location audience.
